SECTION IV ABOUT YOGYAKARTA

YOGYAKARTA, often also called Yogya or Jogja, which is located in the middle of Java Island – Indonesia, is well known as cultural and educational center in Indonesia. Despite all the extraordinary changes that have taken place during the past few decades, still it is Yogya's traditional attractions that tourist come to see - the ancient temples, the palaces, the Batik workshop and other handmade processing of handicraft and furniture, the Gamelan orchestra, the court dances, as well as the Wayang Puppet performances.

Yogyakarta is also famous as the city where everything is cheap. It's enough with $ 20 per –day, you are able to stay over, eat famous delicious food, and rent a motorbike to explore the pure beaches and thousands of years of old ancient temples.

The Royal Palace

A thousand years ago, Yogyakarta was the center of ancient Mataram Kingdom which was prosperous and high civilized. In the 10th century, Ancient Mataram Kingdom moved its central government to East Java. The magnificent temples were abandoned and partially buried by the eruption material of Merapi Volcano. Then, Yogyakarta region slowly went back into dense forest.

Six hundred years later, Panembahan Senopati established Islamic Mataram Kingdom in the region. Once again, Yogyakarta became the witness of human history of a great Kingdom that ruled Java Island and its surrounding areas. The Islamic Mataram Kingdom was leaving a trail of ruins of fortress and royal tombs in Kotagede which recently known as silver handicraft center in Yogyakarta.

Giyanti agreement in 1755 divided the Islamic Mataram Kingdom into Kasunanan Surakarta which was founded in Yogyakarta and based in the city of Solo and Yogyakarta Sultanate. Kraton (Palace) still exist until today, as the residence of Sultan and his family as well as hundreds abdi dalem (the servant of the Palace), who faithfully and voluntarily serve the Palace and run the tradition in the midst of changing times. At the Palace, there are many cultural performances such as wayang kulit (puppet shadow play), gamelan (Javanese orchestra), and Javanese dance etc.

The Mountain

At the North end of Yogyakarta, you will see Mount Merapi stands proudly, almost as high as 10,000 feet. This mountain is one of the most active volcanoes in Indonesia. The Mount Merapi erupted in 2006 and on 26 October 2010. The trace of its malignant of the 2010 eruption can be witnessed in the Village of Kaliadem, 30 km from the city of Yogyakarta. Mooi Indie style scenery of green rice field, with Mount Merapi background, could still be seen at the suburb area of Yogyakarta.

The Temples

About 25 kilometers South of Mount Merapi, there is Prambanan Temple, the grandest temple in Java apart from Borobudur. Located on the Prambanan plain, this sprawling temple complex sits majestically in an open area, which dominates the horizon. The temple was constructed in the early 9th century by the Sanjaya dynasty, a flourishing Hindu Kingdom that shared the island with the Buddhist Sailendra dynasty that built Borobudur. The relationship between the two dynasties is not clear, but one theory maintains that the Sanjayas constructed Prambanan Temple as a symbol of dynastic power in response to the construction of Borobudur. However, the Sanjayas do not seem to have been particularly antagonistic toward the Buddhist faith of the Sailendras—indeed, the temple complex is located just a few hundred meters south of Candi Sewu, a once awe-inspiring marvel of Buddhist art. Locally known as the Loro Jonggrang temple or the temple of the “Slender Virgin”, Prambanan reputed to be the biggest and the most beautiful Hindu Temple in Indonesia.

42 kilometres (26 mile) to the Northwest of Yogyakarta, across the river beds and rice fields, brings you to the steps of fabled Borobudur. This huge stupa, the world’s largest Buddhist monument, between 778 and 856 – 300 years before Angkor Wat and 200 years before Notre Dame. Yet within little more than a century of its completion, Borobudur and all of Central Java were abandoned. At about this time, too, Mount Merapi erupted violently, covering Borobudur in volcanic ash and concealing this temple for the greater part of millennium. The temple is considered as one of the Seven Wonders of the World, located at Borobudur District, South of Magelang, and Central Java. It was built by Sanmaratungga in the 8th century and belongs to Buddha Mahayana. It was revealed by Sir Thomas Stanford Raffles in 1814.

Two smaller, subsidiary temples lie along a straight line directly to the East of Borobudur. The closer of the two is Pawon, they have constituted the last stop along a brick-paved pilgrimage route. The other one is Mendut, 1,150 metres further to the east of Borobudur, across the confluence of 2 holy rivers (the Progo and the Elo).

The Beaches

In the Southern part of Yogyakarta, you will find many beaches. The most famous beach is Parangtritis which has its legendary figure, Nyi Roro Kidul (Queen of the South). There are also many natural beautiful beaches in Gunung Kidul, such as Sadeng Beach, which an ancient Bengawan Solo River estuary is in this beach. This beach lies in Songbanyu and Pucung village, Girisubo district, about 46 kilometers away from Wonosari city and it is also the place of a nationally fishing ship landing berth, which supports the need of Yogyakarta city. The crowd of fisherman's village with their activities is another attraction in Sadeng Beach. Besides, the visitors also can enjoy seafood or even bring fresh fish as a small presents. Furthermore, the other beautiful beaches you could visit in Gunung Kidul are Siung Beach, which has 250 routes for cliff climbing and there is also Siung Wanara coral reef from which the name of the beach originates; and then, you could visit Sundak Beach, which offers beautiful beach with white sand, rocks and great caves. According to the story, its name was derived from Asu (dogs) and Landak (hedgehog), where a dog and a hedgehog were fight in this beach, and eventually won by the dog, so local residents named this beach by Sundak Beach; and many more.

Batik and Other Handicrafts

The list of traditional crafts still practiced in the suburbs. Most villages are specialized, some producing earthenware pottery, others turning out delicate filagree silverwork, and yet others leathers bag, weavings, baskets, cane furniture, wood mask, etc. Traditional markets and handicraft centers are numerous in the city. Some of them located at the malls which are no less hectic.

Yogyakarta at present is a place where tradition and modern dynamics are going on together continuously and peacefully. In this city, there is the Palace with hundreds of loyal servants running the tradition, and there is also the University of Gadjah Mada, one of the leading universities in South East Asia. At one side, some residents of Yogyakarta live in a strong agrarian culture traditionally and at the other side, the students live with their pop life-style. A unique combination of ancient temples, history, traditions, culture and natural forces make Yogyakarta a very worthwhile place to visit.
